My Dear Friends in Christ,

This weekend marks the last Sunday of the Church's calendar. Next Sunday, then, begins another "year" in the life of the Church, the First Sunday of Advent. As this "year" comes to an end, and we sleep off the effects of the turkey and pies, I wanted to express my gratitude to all of you. I say it often – and will never tire of saying it: I have the best job in the entire world. Thank you to all of you who support Sacred Heart so generously in a variety of ways. As we prepare to begin another year together, please know of my prayers for all of you.

One reminder: this Thursday begins another series of faith formation talks. I'll be making four presentations (November 30, December 7, 14, and 21) on the topic of Christology, that is, the study of Jesus. As has been the case in the past, these sessions will involve lecture and then a question and answer session. All sessions will begin at 7:00 pm in the Church. I hope to see you there!

With prayers,
Fr. Matt
